

Breakfast and Dance

Enjoy a Jane-Austen meal and learn the dancing of 1812!

Public breakfasts were extremely popular in Austen's lifetime and usually involved dancing. The author of Pride and Prejudice, Emma, and Persuasion loved to dance!

Our menu will include plum cake, eggs, oatmeal with cream, fresh fruit, spiced drinking chocolate, tea, coffee and much more. For the full menu, see the JaneAustenDancing website.

Dance mistress Karen Millyard will teach the dances of Austen's time, which overlapped with those of the 1812 era. Charming and lively, they are easy to learn and fun to do!

No experience or partner necessary. Pre-registration is required.

Sunday, June 24

Montgomery's Inn (416) 394-8113

(4709 Dundas St. W at Islington)

10 - 11.15 Georgian Breakfast; 11.30 - 1 p.m. English Country Dance workshop; 1.20 - 3.30 -- Social dancing to live music on the shady lawn.

For prices and ticket purchases see

www.JaneAustenDancing.ca